

SAUC-E '11 needs your support!

Be part of the event – Become a SAUC-E '11 sponsor

The Student Autonomous Underwater Challenge Europe (SAUC-E) programme is recognised as an event that fosters innovation and enthusiasm in underwater technology among college level students. SAUC-E provides opportunities for teams to put their engineering projects to the test, running missions under realistic conditions.

The NATO Undersea Research Centre (NURC) is once again hosting SAUC-E in La Spezia, in July 2011. The 2010 competition attracted 9 teams from all over Europe—more teams have indicated interest in participating in next year's competition. SAUC-E '10 was widely covered in the media, and we expect even more publicity for SAUC-E '11, starting with the news that the SAUC-E programme has been nominated to receive the J. Guy Reynolds Memorial/MAST Award at the 2010 MAST Conference and Exhibition in Rome.

SAUC-E '10 event was made possible because of support from sponsors. Likewise, for SAUC-E '11 to succeed, we are calling on you to sign on as a sponsor. Any contribution is welcome!

As a sponsor, your organisation will be recognised as a supporter of this worthwhile event through co-branding on all SAUC-E publicity including the official website, posters, brochures/flyers and banners during the competition itself as well as press releases. We are open to suggestions from organisations interested in becoming actively involved in SAUC-E '11.
